

Welcome to Our Project Saving Sea Life Exhibition

Friday, March 23, 2012
Cabrillo National Monument

Brochure designed by Gabriella Keopuhiwa, Cristian Hidalgo, and Breanna Benson-Quirino

6:15 p.m. Welcome Presentation

- Why are our sea animals endangered?
By Ismael Estrada
- How can we stop this from happening?
By Aaron Muñoz
- How did we create our artwork?
By Moises Charqueño

6:30 p.m. Talk to a Marine Biologist

- Marine Biologists will be by their artwork to answer questions about their research

7 p.m. Mingle

- Video and pictures of our project's journey will be playing in the theater throughout the evening.
- Enjoy light refreshments outside
- Donation information is on the back
- 8 p.m. Thank you so much for supporting us! Have a wonderful weekend!

Map Key

Sharing Each Other's Work:

1. Jazmin Rocha (1a) & Keon Jackson (1b)
2. Sarahi Quiroz (2a) & Asia Barnhill (2b)
3. Daniel Arechiga-Martinez (3a) & Isabella Eakes (3b)
4. Alek Leal (4a) & Alexis Cervantes (4b)
5. Miguel Vasquez (5a) & Cesar Rivera (5b)
6. Breanna Benson-Quiroz (6a) & Gabriella Keopuhiwa (6b)
7. Aaron Munoz (7a) & Cristian Hidalgo (7b)
8. Ismael Estrada (8a) & Moises Charqueno (8b)

How will you help save endangered sea animals?

9. Matthew Sosa (9a) & Anthony Mendiaz (9b)

Recommended questions for the marine biologists are located on their name tags.*

Thank you for visiting!

Special thank you to:

Teresa Espaniola, for sharing her artistic expertise and passion for protecting sea life.

Rick Jenkins, Cabrillo National Monument, and Melissa Gordon for partnering with us in cleaning the tidepools and celebrating our work with the public.

New Children's Museum, for inspiring us to create our own trash art.

New Ocean Blue, for teaching us how recycling saves our sea animals.

Sea World, for our field trip so that we can learn more about our sea animals in person.

All our families, for encouraging us to pursue our questions.

Donations

Each piece of artwork is priced at $20. Please tell the cashier the number and letter (i.e. 1a) located on the back of the art piece. You are also welcome to donate any amount that you wish aside from the artwork at the register.

All your generous donations go towards Cabrillo National Monument's efforts in protecting the habitats of our endangered sea animals.

Thank you for your support!

Mrs. Han's First Grade Marine Biologists

Audubon K-8
San Diego Unified School District

Teresa Espaniola was encouraged to paint and draw from a very young age. As a child, exploring the tide pools in the San Diego area with her family was a highlight in her young life. She moved to Hawaii in 1974 and lived on several islands for 25 years. Life in Hawaii supported her on-going love and self-education about the ocean.

Teresa graduated with honors and a degree in graphic design for print. Teresa worked with young children in the after-school arts and crafts program for the Colorado Public School System. She volunteered in the arts and crafts program for young adults with brain and spinal injuries at Craig Hospital in Denver, Colorado. She attended the 5th International Marine Debris Conference in Honolulu, March 2011, and presented a workshop with students from Molokai High School about marine debris.

Teresa volunteers her graphic design skills to The Surfrider Foundation in their Rise Above Plastics San Diego chapter and has donated her artwork to Surfrider San Diego and Coastkeeper San Diego for fundraising events. Teresa's desire is to share her experiences and educate children and adults about the ocean and its inhabitants and to promote a turnaround in the current polluted oceanic environment.